Students Attend State Legislature

Government minded Columbia Basin College students took part in a field trip, on March 6, 1959, to attend sessions of the Washington State Legislature and Senate.

Teh trip was arranged by Mr. Walter Oberst, political science instructor, for all students of his Washington History and Government class who could attend. He was assisted in transporting the students to Olympia by John Shaeffer.

Their first evening was spent at a dinner with representatives of the 16th District, Mike McCormack, John Day, and Al Henry. The students were briefed on sessions of the senate, and later that evening they attended some late sessions.

The following day the students attended committee hearings in the house and senate. Some were fortunate enough to meet Governor Albert Rosellini, Lt. Governor John Cherberg and other state dignitaries.

Mr. Oberst expressed his thanks to the CBC ASB and the Citizenship Clearing House, a national, non-profit organization financed by the Ford Foundation, who made the trip possible. CBC is the only Junior College in the state that is a member of this group.

Thos attending the two day meet were, Sibyll McMullen, Pat Todoravich, Felicia Bakken, Merrill Blair, Sheldon Kline, Thomas Matthews, Mike McLaughan and Chuck Wood.

CBC Instructor Accepts Honors

Robert True, physics instructor, has recently been tapped for membership in the Richland section of the American Society of Metals.

The society is basically made up of professional metalurgists. Its program is an educational one.

True was also recently selected to represent CBC at a week long radiological training school in Olympia. While there he studied the biological effects of radiation and the operation of radiation detection gear. The school was sponsored by the Operational Division of Civil Defense Mobilization and was attended by representatives from the Pacific Northwest and Alaska.

Play May Be In Lounge

The spring play may be held for the CBC student-body in the cafeteria-lounge, according to Mr. Emmet Hoynes, faculty member and play director.

Hoyes stated, however, that the whole idea depends upon the securing by the college of a switch board to be used for lighting effects.

So far, the play has not been selected and neither has a date been set for its presentation but tryouts will probably be held early in the spring quarter.

The theme of the conference was the Education of Fast and Slow Learners. At the conference, the students were divided into three groups, so to have each group in a section. The three sections were—(1) Fast Learner, (2) Slow Learner, and (3) Special Education, the latter group dealt with the severely retarded student.

After the general session, the groups reported to their assigned sections for discussion. The techniques and problems dealing with various levels were discussed. The resource people were guidance personnel from the Walla Walla school system.

At the SNEA's meetings they have movies, panel discussions, and speakers dealing with problems and programs in the field of education. Also the members are given opportunities to observe classes as individuals or in small groups. The membership apepars on each individuals transcript.
